

Ludwig-Genzel-Prize

1. The Ludwig-Genzel-Prize is awarded to a young scientist for exceptional contributions to the field of condensed-matter spectroscopy. Related to Ludwig Genzel's scientific oeuvre, the focus is on the far-infrared spectral range.
2. The award contains a diploma and prize money of €4000.-. Bruker Optics (Ettlingen) is the sponsor of this prize.
3. The prize is awarded every two years during the International Conference on Low Energy Excitations in Solids (LEES). For further information see <http://www.pi1.uni-stuttgart.de/link/genzelpreis.html>. The next LEES will be held at Biwako Lakeside near Kyoto in Japan from May 29th until June 3rd, 2016. <http://www.lees2016.org/index.shtml>
4. The selection is made by a committee. Nominations should be submitted to the chairman of the selection committee by February 1, 2016, including
 - a nomination letter evaluating the nominee's qualifications and identifying the specific work to be recognized by the Ludwig-Genzel-Prize;
 - a biographical sketch;
 - a list of the most important publications;
 - two, but no more than four, seconding letters;
 - up to five reprints or preprints, if appropriate.
